Plexr Plus is an innovative technology by GMV based on the ionization of gas into PLASMA. Sublimation is the phase transition of a substance directly from the solid to the gas phase without passing through the intermediate liquid phase.

- 1 Heating precisely the gas particles.
- 2 Ionizing the gas particles. Plasma formation.
- 3 Tissue sublimation. From solid to gas.

The PLASMA energy generated by Plexr Plus will sublimate the superficial layers of the skin without causing damage to the surrounding tissues.

High Precision

It is an innovative development in aesthetic medicine by utilizing the fourth state of matter PLASMA. The system is very precise and doesn't spread heat to surrounding areas, meaning it is perfect to operate on areas, such as eyelids, that are not really suitable for other technologies. It is therefore marketed for use as a non-surgical blepharoplasty, or soft eyelid procedure.
